School Doors Open for '77-78 School Year

School in the '77-78 year was different in many ways. New administration, new teachers for many classes, and new policies all changed the HHS atmosphere.

Also changing the atmosphere was the heatwaves of early fall followed by the three blizzards of December, January and early February. Record setting snowfalls closed down the schools but coal strikes threatened to reclose them after the snow's damage had been cleared.

But school began as usual with new kids and teachers adapting to the routine. The routine was even new to the students and teachers who had already been there as it now included exams at the end of the semesters. Also new was the situation in the grade school. Until the new wing was completed, classes would be held in the gym and band rooms.

Slave day was abolished this year, but Latin slaves had their traditional initiation at their first meeting. Latin Convention was discussed and the change from Columbus as the site to Athens was announced. This was the second year for French to be taught and the first year for a French II class.

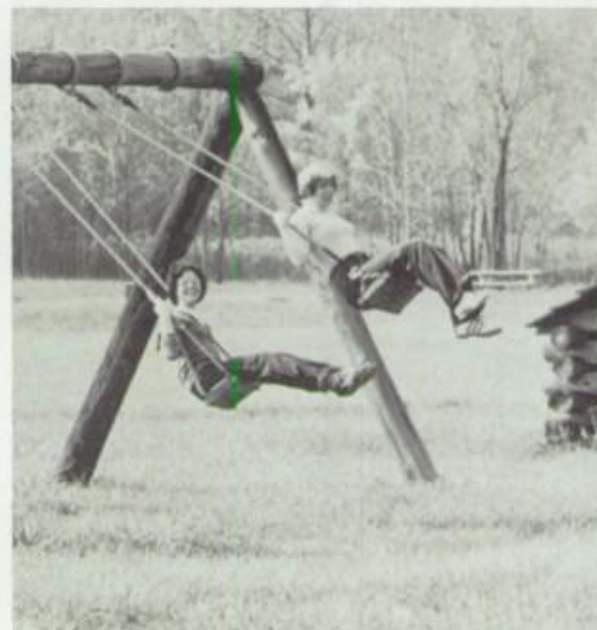

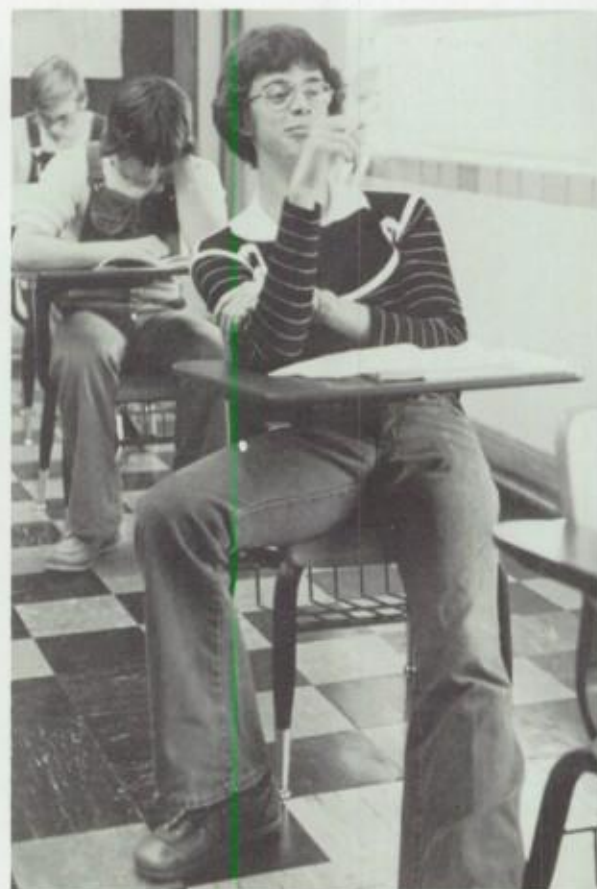

Homecoming queen was Mary Whonsetler and her Escort was Rod Vanderstlet. First runnerup to VICA queen was Patti Meyer and Holly Poper was voted Fireman's Queen.

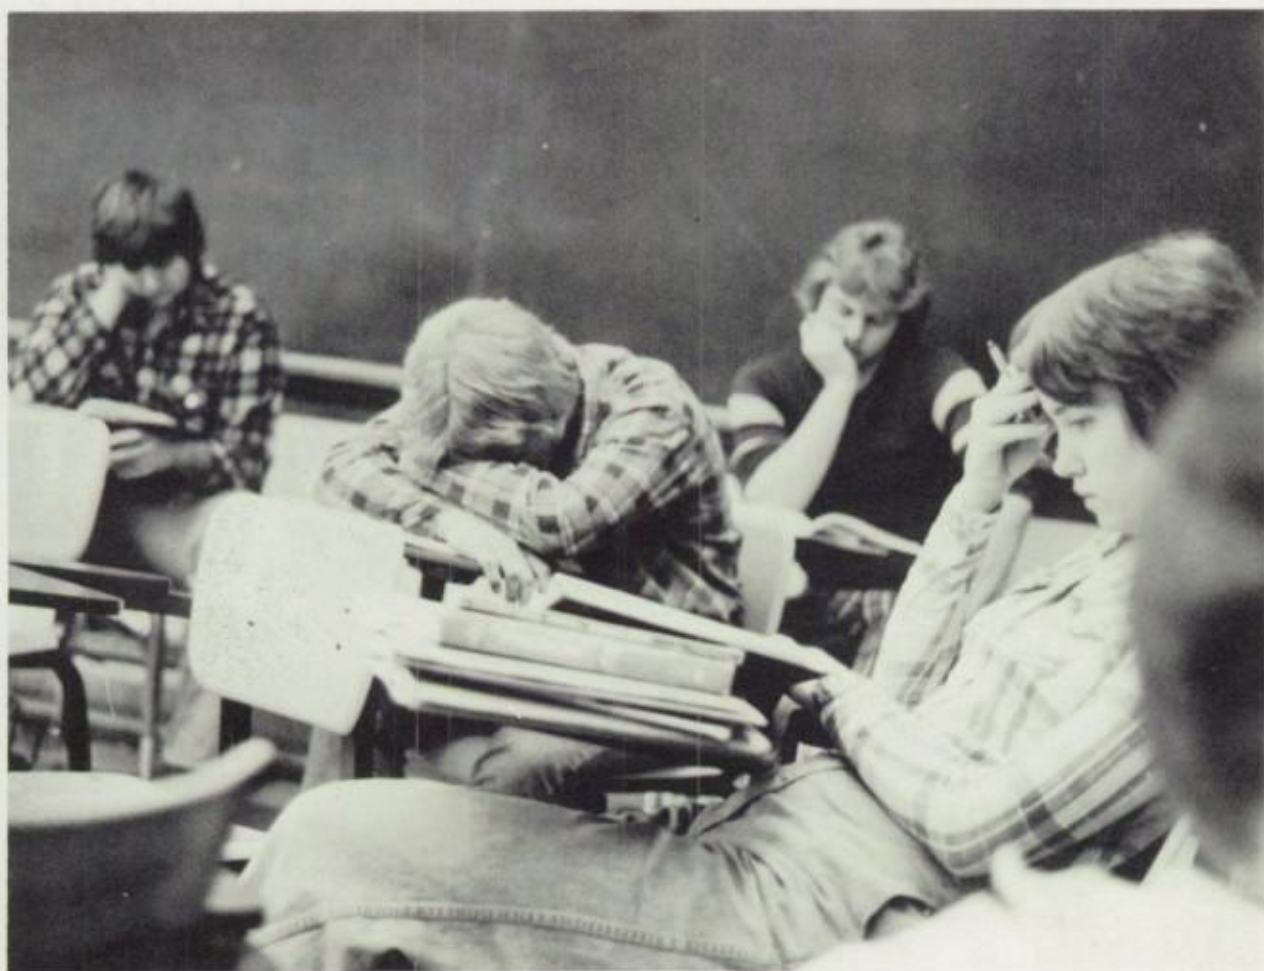

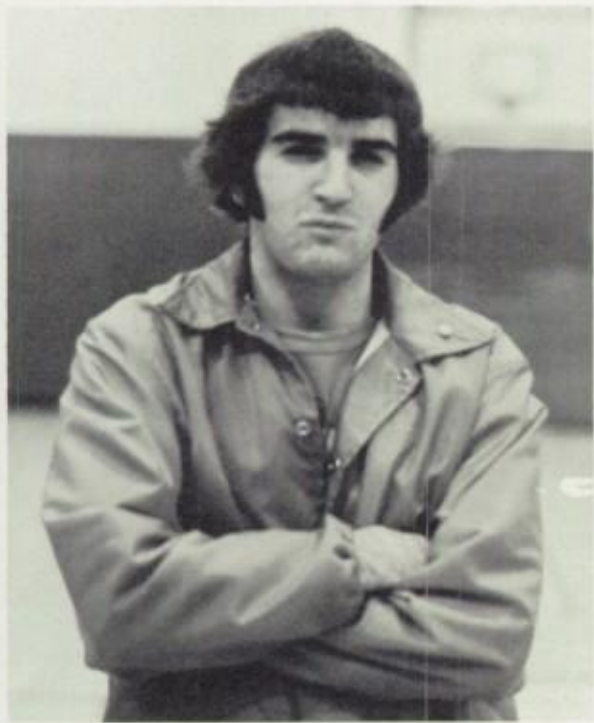

Also at Homecoming was the Sophomore Float which won first prize. Other prizes were awarded as follows: Juniors, second; Freshmen, third, and Seniors, an honorable mention for the biggest tractor.

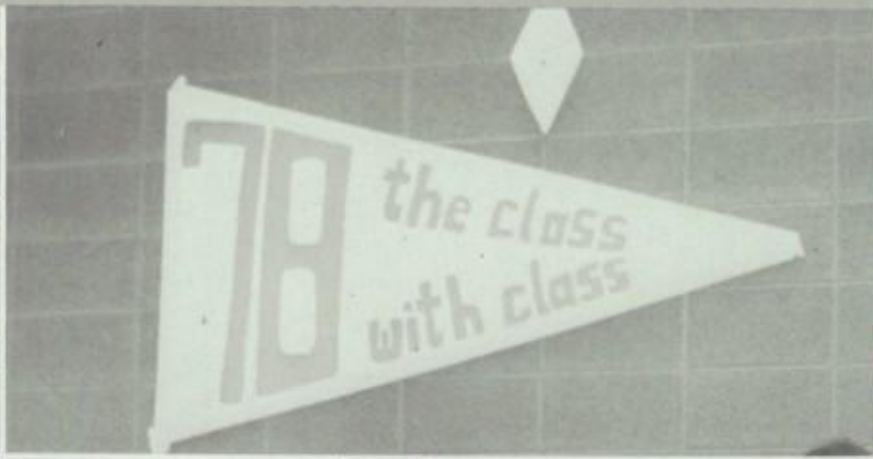

In November the juniors put on five one-act plays instead of the traditional one three-act play. There was no musical presented this year, but the Seniors planned a play for spring.

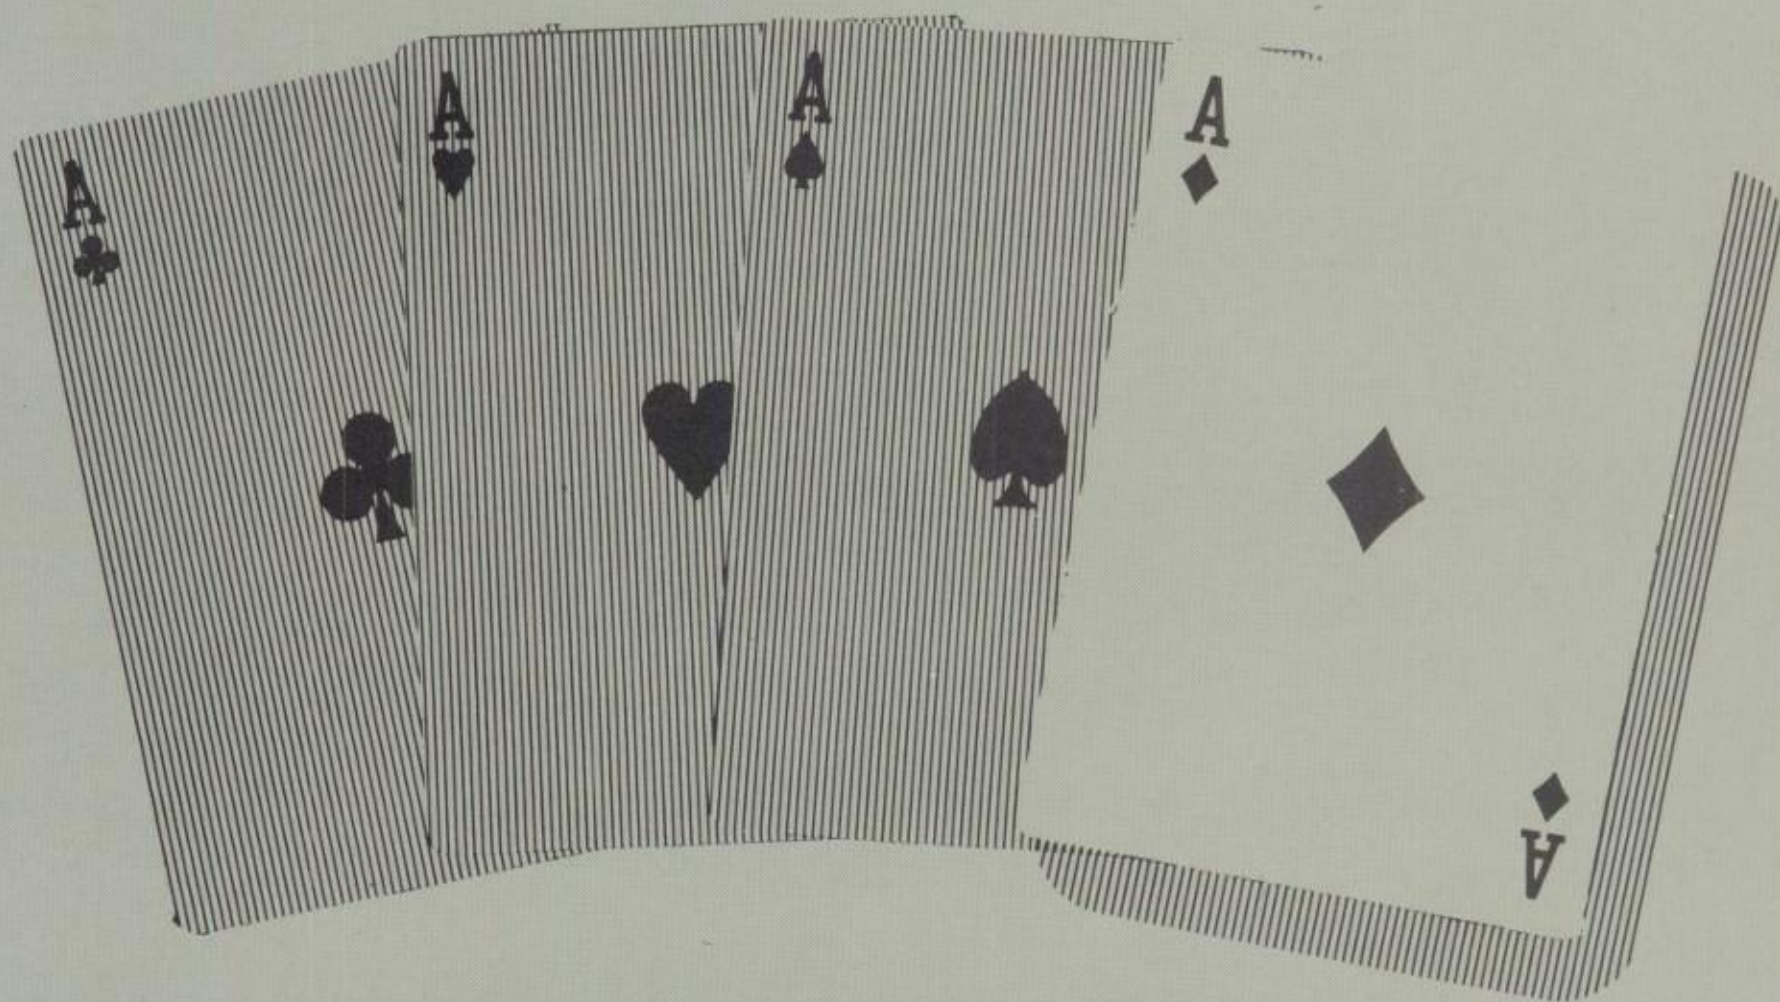

The three language classes celebrated their Christmases with the Feast of the Three Kings (French), Saturnalia (Latin), and Feliz Navidad (Spanish).

With Christmas vacation came studies for exams while there was still time, for they were scheduled only two weeks after school resumed. These exams were a new experience for both students and teachers.

Shining Memories of the Past Year

"Success: Aces Life Story" is

Homecoming 1977 was Oct. 7. The pregame parade consisted of the Hicksville High School Marching Aces, class floats, Queen Mary Whonsetler and her court. Something new was tried as far as the floats were concerned. All of the floats had to relate to the basic theme: "Success: Aces Life Story."

First Place was captured by the Sophomores with the theme "Victory, Aces Weigh of Life." The Juniors float won second place with their depiction of the theme, "Success, Fighting for the Future, Remembering the Past." Freshmen came in third, with the theme of "Aces Life Story is Not a Fairy Tale," with the Senior's "We Don't Kid Around" float receiving an honorable mention for the largest tractor and the smallest float.

The parade proceeded to the football field to begin the Homecoming ceremonies. Freshman attendant, Carolyn Applegate, was escorted by #72.

James Whitaker. Escort Steve Hostetler, #10, escorted sophomore attendant, Connie Rodocker. Representing the juniors was Karen Amaden, escorted by Steve Thiel, #36. Marijo Miller was the senior attendant, escorted by #20, Rick Whitaker. Mary Whonsetler, the 1977 Homecoming Queen, was escorted onto the field by Rod Vanderstelt, #24. Mary was then crowned and gave her speech. She presented the game ball to Rod and the game soon began.

Hicksville Aces defeated the Hilltop Cadets by a score of 28 to 0. The Big Red Machine scored first on an 11 yard romp by Rod Vanderstelt. Bob Luder- man added the extra point. Rick Whitaker caught a 42 yard pass to make the score 14 to 0 at the end of the first half.

Carolyn Applegate is the Freshman Attendant for Homecoming '77.

Miss Virlynn Rex directed the Junior class when they presented "An Evening of One Act Plays." Held on Sunday, November 27, and Monday, November 28, the plays included "Marked for Murder," "Bachelor's Baby," "Owl," "Pink Lemonade for Tomorrow," and "What Did You Say 'What' For?"

"Marked for Murder's" comedy built up with each murder as a variety of people vied for the fortune up for grabs. Ellie Kincaid was soon to celebrate her twenty-first birthday after she would receive her father's fortune. Her aunt, Lucinda Kincaid, (Jodee Peter), had always lived off of Ellie's now deceased father. But now with Ellie coming into her inheritance and Lucinda no longer executor, she would have to live on only ten thousand a year.

Soon Lucinda and Ellie were to be leaving on a tour of Europe to help Ellie recover from an illness she had been suffering from.

Mark Labiche, Ellie's fiance, tried to convince her that Lucinda was trying to kill her for her inheritance. The trip to Europe would provide an excellent chance for her to get rid of Ellie's body.

Dick Summers (Jeff Wonderly) was left with an abandoned baby in "Bachelor's Baby." Unsure of what he should do, he took the infant up to his room in the boarding house where he lived. After convincing his landlady, Miss Smithers (Beth Rohrs), that it was not really a baby, he must convince his fiancée, Elizabeth (Kolby Neidhardt), who was suspicious that he was playing around behind her back.

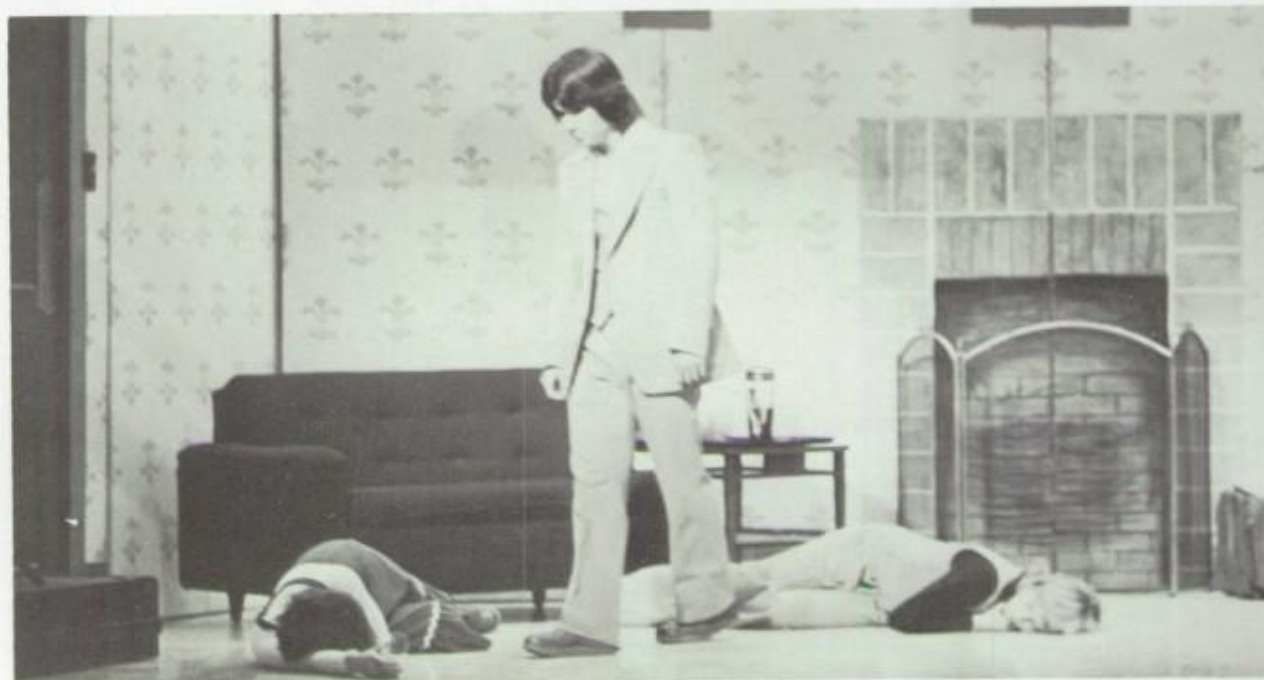

Finally, the mother who couldn't speak anything but German came with a policeman (Dave Smith) for her child.

Darrell Ambrose and Lucinda Kincaid Ambrose congratulate each other after two successful murders.

Mark Labiche drags his fiancée off into the kitchen after he has murdered her.

Mark Labiche surveys the results of his capability in selecting wine.

Benjamin Franklin and Dr. Hollyhock discuss the cat and the turtle as opposed to the owl.

Miss Dross looks disturbed at Franklin's determination.

Dick Summers, Elizabeth, and the policeman try to understand as the German woman explains about her child.

Miss Smithers and Summers discuss his newly acquired fatherhood.

Caroline Ramsey dreams on as her maid tries to talk some sense into her head.

Director Virlynn Rex enthusiastically follows along the lines of the play.

Todd Allen discusses life with Caroline.

Juniors Present 5 One-Act Plays

Benjamin Franklin (Sheldon Levy) was the dubious name of a gentleman who went to a Veterinarian's office to buy an owl in "Owl." The receptionist (Darlene Cline) told him she does not think they have an owl, but as he persists, she went to get the doctor.

Dr. Hollyhock (Mark Zimmerman) tried to persuade him to buy a cat or a turtle but he would have none of it. In exasperation he turned to leave, but came back when Dr. Hollyhock asked if he wouldn't change his mind.

Enraged, Franklin stripped off his coat, revealing owl feathers all over his body. He attacked Hollyhock, then Miss Dross when she came out to see what the trouble was.

"Pink Lemonade for Tomorrow" was set in the 1920's on the grounds of an abandoned southern mansion where Caroline Ramsey (Patty Meyer) lived with her mother and their maid Sedonia (Lisa Cottrell). Caroline lived in a world of fantasy about her dead father whom she adored (Chad Wyatt). Tod Allen (Tom Turnbull) was a boy who moved into the neighborhood to stay with his grandmother while his parents settled their divorce.

"What Did You Say 'What' For?" is set in any time and any place. A man and a woman are the only characters.

A businessman came in and sat down on a park bench to read his paper. A woman, dressed in strange clothes, came and sat beside him.

Trying to avoid her, he slid to the other end of the bench. She followed. Soon he was in a conversation about Vladivostok, jelly bean bracelets, and whether or not she owned the park. Finally, when he became too skeptical at her imaginings, she ran off starting on a new story with another person in the park.

Journalism I Publishes Spoondrift

Taught by Mrs. Margaret McAdams, this class endeavored to learn the history and rules of journalism through the text.

Spoondrift, the name of HHS's newspaper, was published biweekly. Audine Hill was the editor. Dave Gephart, the business manager, and Mel Bice was the press manager.

Along with selling the newspaper to students and area businesses, Journalism I traded with other schools such as Bryan High's High Lites, John Glenn's Jon-Gee, Ayersville's Blue and Gold and Fairview's Warrior Weekly.

Audine Hill shows her weariness as she finishes the last stencil for the current issue of Spoondrift.

Aces' Theme — First for Yearbook

Hixonian class, as Journalism II was called, went from one credit to zero credits this year. This was to accommodate the lack of enough accredited English teachers and is expected to be carried on indefinitely.

Tri-Editors were Paula Hergenroether, Dianna Rohlof, and Lonny Wires. Photographer was Ed Welly. Business Manager was Cathy Conley.

Five staff members, Dianna Rohlof, Paula Hergenroether, Carolyn Meyer, Lonny Wires, and Ed Welly, attended a summer workshop sponsored by Taylor Publishing Company at Adrian College in Adrian, Mich. Classes were held on subjects such as layout, drawing, theme, and cover design.

Work on Hixonian was not like every other class. Dedicated staff workers sold ads in August through to October and came in after school was out until the deadline of June 10. Budgeted at $5,000, the staff of 13 wrote copy, cropped pictures, and drew layouts that would outline the School year of 77-78 for students at the Hicksville schools.

Workshop was not all fun, there was a lot of work involved.

Assembly Honors Award Winners

On Friday, May 26, 1978 Mr. Kurry opened the Awards Ceremonies by awarding the Honor Students their medals. Valedictorian Paul Camp received a blue ribboned medal, Dennis Durre, Salutatorian, a yellow ribboned one. Other Honor Students received medals with ribbons of red, white and blue.

Mr. Kurry then awarded Paul Camp and Dennis Durre with the Danforth Foundation Award.

Mary King, Sheryl Sprow and Steve Evans then received certificates for the score of 90 percent or higher in the National Education Development Test. Mary King was awarded a second one for scoring in the top 99 percent.

The Awards of Distinction this year went to Rod Bare, Paul Camp, Patricia Cline, Dennis Durre, Brad Kemerer, Roberta Ream, Jill Rodocker, Ray Smith, and Ed Welly. The criteria for this award includes participation in the following classes: English — 4 units; Math — 3 units (including 1 credit of Algebra, 1 of Geometry); Science — 3 units (must include 2 from Biology, Chemistry and Physics); Social Studies (must include American and World History and one half units of Civics or Government); Foreign Languages — three units (2 each of two languages or three units of one).

Maumee Valley Math Test award winner were presented by Mr. Fast. They were Paul Camp and Duane Cline — Senior Math, Lori Dorohoff and Brenda Nester — Advanced Algebra, Tom Evans — Geometry, Frank Sinclair and Steve Evans — Algebra.

Mr. Kurry then presented Pam Thiel and Patti Meyer for the 4-county Junior Awards. They had placed first and second respectively in regional competition.

The 4-county recognition of officers was announced by Mr. Kurry. They included Brad Kemerer, Jeff Wonderly, Bentley Conners, Rick Whitaker, Randy Basset, Kim Shatto, Jody Tay-

Exchange Students Spend Year at HHS

Gerard Van Dyck

Susanna Vuormies

Fernando Croce

Hicksville Rotary Student Exchange Program hosted three exchange students during the '77-'78 school year. These were Gerard Van Dyck, from Belgium, Susanna Vuormies, from Finland and Fernando Croce from Brazil.

Susanna is the daughter of Eerikki and Maila Vuormies. She has one sister and one brother, both younger. During her year in the United States, Susanna stayed with three families, the John Leonard family, the Richard Malkling family, and the Charles Countryman family.

Gerard came from Honriksem, Belgium, near Antwerp. His visit was eleven months long. He stayed first with the Raymond Meyer family in Sherwood and then made a move to Hicksville, where he resided at the Dennis Guilford home. Gerard attended the Four County Joint Vocational School.

Fernando finished his one year visit in the U.S., by attending school until December 10, 1977.

Fernando takes time out of government class to clown around, as Mr. Hallett and Susanna look on.

Gerard finds Sadie Hawkins to be a new experience.

Susanna is caught by the camera at a Spanish Club meeting.

Fernando listens intently to the Hicksville-Fairview game as he watches, first-hand, from the sidelines.

Pat Spends Year in New Zealand

Pat Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Street was chosen to represent Hicksville High School in the Rotary Exchange Student Program. He spent one year in New Zealand.

While in New Zealand, Pat lived in Waikanae, a small community on the Tasman Sea and attended Kapiti College. He spoke to several Rotary clubs, giving them a comparison of his life in the United States and his life in New Zealand.

Pat felt that "New Zealand is an outdoor lover's paradise." He comments that the country is rich in natural beauty and the people are much the same as they are here in the United States.

At Kapiti College, where he attended school, the students followed a strict dress code and the school rules were much more strict and formal than in the U.S. Pat was enrolled in the sixth form, the equivalent of a U.S. senior. Kapiti College had a large enrollment compared to HHS. Approximately 1200 students attended in the upper five grades, even though nearly $\frac{1}{3}$ of them leave school at age fifteen. Those that remain in school take university entrance exams which allow them to attend any university at the expense of the New Zealand government.

Sports in colleges and universities seem to be much less competitive, with more emphasis on having fun than on winning. Rugby, cricket and soccer are the three most popular sports and are followed almost as religiously as baseball, football and basketball are here.

Pat summed up his attitude as a New Zealand exchange student as relaxing and easygoing. He says most New Zealanders take life with a "grain of salt," and he has found it is quite easy to do in the beautiful surroundings of his New Zealand home.

The main road through Waikanae gives a good view of city life in Pat's home town.

Sheep grazing is important in a land where sheep outnumber men, twenty to one.

English Returns to Traditional Courses

Teaching English courses this year were Mrs. Rohrs, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. McAdams, Mrs. Kaltenbach, and Mrs. Redden. The high school classes returned to the traditional system of teaching instead of the mini courses, which had consisted of nine week courses.

In junior high, the classes studied parts of speech, letter writing, spelling, and literature stories and poems. Students learned to recognize nouns, verbs, and other parts of speech as well as prepositional phrases and clauses. Rules of punctuation and capitalization were practiced. Also friendly and business letters were written according to rules.

Seventh grade had twenty words each week to spell and define while the eighth grade had thirty words. Six book reports were required during the year, one of which must have been an autobiography or biography.

In literature, students were introduced to the classics as well as modern writers. Some records were used in conjunction with the stories.

Teaching one freshman and two sophomore classes was Mrs. Hardy.

Her freshman class studied grammar in the form of writing business letters, using the dictionary properly, and speaking orally in front of groups.

Literature encompassed reading Romeo and Juliet, short stories, classical myths, biography and autobiography, and The Tale of Two Cities. They also studied the library.

The sophomore classes were taught to improve paragraph and business letter writing. They learned how to make better speeches and improved spelling. Literature covered Medieval Tales and Legends, Red Badge of Courage, plays, short stories and poetry. Both classes did book reports.

The remaining freshman classes were taught by Mrs. McAdams along with the journalism courses.

Freshman grammar consisted of parts of speech, sentence structure, paragraphing and spelling. Literature included a unit of short stories and poetry plus the Ancient Mariner, and Romeo and Juliet.

Journalism I, Spoondrift, covered text book work and pertinent information for publishing a newspaper. Journalism II, Hixonian, was not offered as a class for the first time, but met sixth period every day to organize the yearbook.

Mrs. Kaltenbach's eighth grade practiced basic grammar, read a variety of literature, and also received Scope magazine.

College prep English for seniors included reading British literature, essay writing, and research writing. The general English classes worked on communication skills, including speech, mass media, practical writing experiences. Literature included fiction and non-fiction novels. They also received Voice magazine.

Sophomore college prep as well as the general English classes and junior English classes were taught by Mrs. Redden. College prep students acquired more skills for speeches, learning formal writing structure and creative writing. They read literature from their anthology book. Also read was Taming of the Shrew, A Farewell to Arms, and Noon Wine. In general English, A Red Badge of Courage was read along with their anthology book.

Renee Wonderly, Debbie Wyatt, Nora Miller, Rhonda Cline, Sheryl Mahan, Dawn Wahl, Cathy Bauer, and Kirt Shatto are still participating in the annual spelling bee which involves the junior high students.

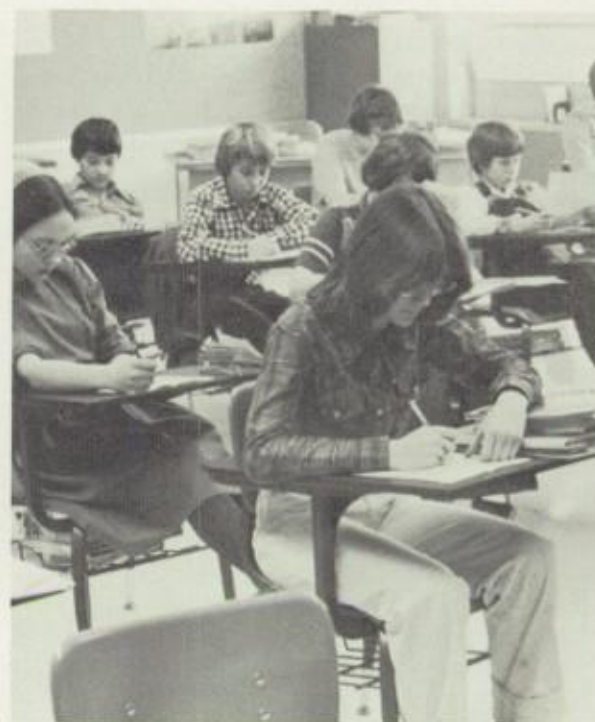

Spoondrift editor, Audine Hill, types a stencil for a bi-weekly edition of the school newspaper.

Mrs. Redden helps Beth Rohrs with her work in C.P. English.

Paul Camp gives a speech on the structure of the Globe Theater during an English class.

Mrs. Rohrs' seventh grade English class is toiling over their spelling test.

Daryl Fowler and Scott Craig portray Tybalt and Mercutio as Steve Davis and Dean Fowler watch.

Carolyn Meyer concentrates on her work for the yearbook.

Mercutio, Daryl Fowler, has just been killed by Tybalt in the play Romeo and Juliet.

Shelley Terry works on her English assignment as Bob Luderman ponders a question.

Foreign Language Increases English Vocabulary

Miss Susan Krout and Mrs. Margaret McAdams taught the language classes this year. Miss Krout taught Spanish I, Spanish II, French I, and French II. Mrs. McAdams taught Latin I and Latin II.

Students in Spanish I listened to tapes to develop their listening and speaking skills. Games were played to review vocabulary.

Spanish II students received more practice in conversation and reading. By the end of the year, most students were able to carry on a simple conversation in Spanish.

Students in French I were primarily involved in the development of their listening and speaking skills through the use of tapes and exercise drills.

Students in French II continued developing the skills learned in French I with more emphasis placed on reading and writing. Both French classes were involved in preparing French dinners as part of their study of French culture.

Latin I studies centered around vocabulary and grammar usage. Stories of mythology were studied and a notebook of derivatives, civilization and alphabet pictures was turned in at the end of May.

In Latin II more vocabulary and grammar points were studied. Further discussions of life and customs plus stories of Roman history were translated. A Latin notebook, mostly of customs of the Romans, was done also.

Dawn Donley and Jeff Smith study for a Spanish II test on the blackboard.

Latin I students work diligently on their assignments.

Brent Hook uses visual aid to help Spanish II students.

Jim Miglin helps Carolyn Applegate with her Spanish I assignment.

Mrs. McAdams and Donna Sweeney work on a jigsaw puzzle project for Latin Convention.

These Latin II students take an open book test.

Mary King and Linda Milner work together to translate a Latin I story.

Natalie Mettert prepares for a Latin I test.

French I student, Dan Fowler, points out Lyon, France on the map.

Russ Cummins studies Latin phrases that are used daily in Latin II.

Paige Craig flashes cards to the French I class.

Ron Linder and Tony Seibert play Concentration in Spanish I.

Carla Hebblethwaite converses with Miss Krout in French II.

Simulation Game Gives Students Knowledge in Oswald Trial

Social Studies is required through the state, for some grades. Some option in courses is offered in the sophomore year. The only year that does not have social studies of some type is the freshman year.

Civics is taught by both Mr. Bill Metz and Mr. Tom Hallett. This is a one semester course that teaches government. The seventh graders study the federal, state, and local systems.

The second half of the seventh graders' year was filled with Ohio History. This course was also taught by both Mr. Metz and Mr. Hallett. They used map drawing to show their students the geographic situation in Ohio. The students also learned of Ohio's heroes and famous sites.

Mr. Tim Smith was in his first year of teaching at Hicksville. He taught the eighth graders American history. His students learned with maps and visual aids. He had increased the use of the audio/visual equipment to add variety.

World history was also taught by Mr. Smith. The sophomores had a choice between this and Mr. Cherry's geography class. The World history students looked into the history and heroes of different countries. They also staged a simulated game of the trial of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Geography studied the social and political facets of countries. Also, through map-making and the reading, students learned the ways countries were shaped, through invasion, war, and colonialism.

Juniors fell under the supervision of Mr. Tom Hallett. They learned the history of America and what shaped many of her policies now. They studied the Declaration of Independence, and Constitution, and reasons for acts such as the Pure Food and Drug Act. Social conditions like the Depression and segregation were also studied.

Government was also taught by Mr. Hallett. Seniors studied the workings of the federal, state, and local governments. They learned the landmark cases of the Supreme Court and the interpretations that the court has put on the constitution.

Vicki Vanderstelt, Greg Hart, and Brenda Nester are judges in a simulation game.

Beth Hook and other students brighten up the government room participating in Hat Day.

Tim Flanary, Peggy Christman, Bob Bradenburg, Sandy Bugbee, and Beth McClish sit enthusiastically through American history.

Mr. Tom Hallett looks at a poster and ponders on the similarities between it and student behavior.

Jim Stairhime questions Russ Cummins in the simulated trial of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Kurt Onstott, Fletcher Grover and Russ Cummins enjoy a joke after he gets off the stand.

Eighth graders work in groups on their projects.

Dawn Wahl laughs over her work.

Tom Evans and Dave Smith are caught by the camera.

Kevin Miller doesn't seem to know why Neal Rohrs is looking at him so strangely.

Eric Plassman diligently at work on his American history.

Students Improve Figures Through Math Courses

In seventh grade math, the students improved their skills with addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. They were introduced to geometric figures, proportions, and per cent. The Metric System was also used in regular class work.

In eighth grade math, the students were introduced to negative numbers, geometric proofs, and areas and volumes of geometric figures. They also reviewed per cents, proportions, and the Metric System.

In general math, the basic operations were reviewed. Problems were solved relating to everyday situations, such as figuring paychecks, take home pay, income tax, and balancing checking accounts.

In Algebra I the students were introduced to the concept of the equation in problem solving. Skills were obtained which would benefit a student if he or she would study such things as physics and chemistry. The course developed the persons power to think and work in a systematic manner.

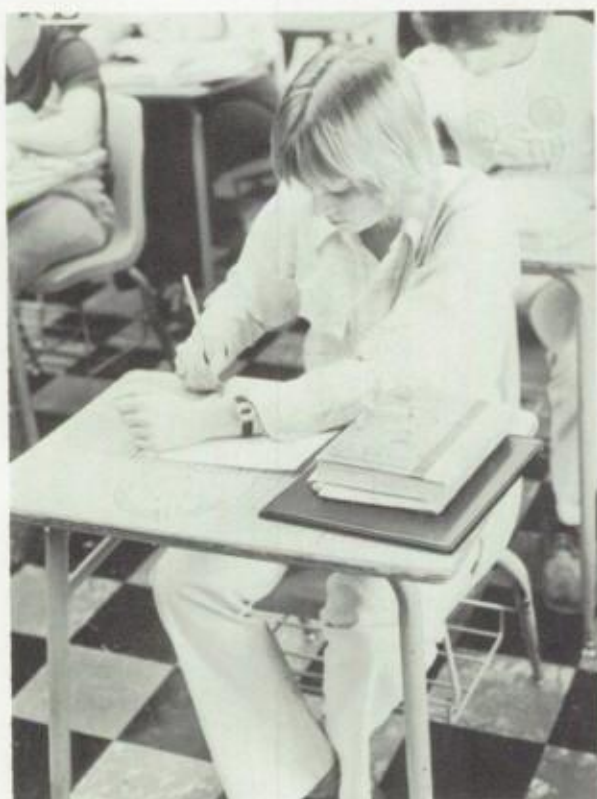

Algebra II classes dealt with real and natural numbers, arithmetic and geometric progressions, and everything in between. Geometric topics were discussed somewhat, giving the students an idea of what geometry would be like. Much of the math learned in Algebra II was of great value for those preparing for further college prep courses.

In senior math, the seniors began preparing themselves for college math. The use of sine and cosine and their relations was covered introducing the students to trigonometry. Calculus was also touched upon. Many things that were learned throughout the high school years were also reviewed in senior math.

In geometry, the students studied extensively the different geometric figures and symmetry in these figures. Formal proofs proved challenging to the students. The fundamentals for senior math courses were also introduced.

Jodee Peter concentrates on her Algebra I test.

Pam Roehrs finds seventh grade math both interesting and a challenge.

Ralian Scott Ponders over a question in seventh grade math.

Paul Camp and James Wood show Mary Whonsetler how to use the Unit Circle as an aid in solving problems.

Deb Hanna and Lori Dorohoff point out a poster they made for the Algebra II class.

Freshmen review the fundamentals in general math.

Veronica Berenyi studies her general math with great intensity.

Rod Bare, Tammy Caperton, and Lonny Wires work together to solve a senior math problem.

Tanya Heddrig answers a question in eighth grade math.

Tony Welly, Ron Meyer, and Mary King listen as Mr. Fast explains an Algebra I assignment.

Juniors discuss their assignment in geometry.

Students Dissect Mysteries of Science

Heading the 1977-1978 science department were Mr. Ed Kaltenbach, Mr. Jerry Balser, and Mrs. Patricia Miller.

Mr. Kaltenbach taught one class of eighth grade general science and classes of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

In general science, the students were taught the basics of working in the lab with such equipment as microscopes and balances. They also got into basic biology through the study of the human body.

Biology classes worked in a number of different areas. These included genetics, anatomy, evolution and the phylogenetic tree and ecology.

Something new was added this year. Students spent the fourth nine weeks grading period looking into the study of organic chemistry and the uses of carbon, which gave them some insight into the chemistry course.

Chemistry classes spent several weeks tackling chemical equations and making carbon snakes before going on to the more difficult tasks of titration, distillation and organic chemistry.

Highlights of the year in physics class were astronomy, making ice cream (as a heat experiment), the study of simple machines, nuclear physics and simple electronics.

The student council sponsored a General Telephone Laser program, featuring Mr. Ken Barter as an aid to the science courses.

Mr. Balser's eighth grade science classes, as well as Mrs. Miller's dealt mainly with environmental studies through observation, formation of hypothesis and designing of experiments to prove the hypothesis.

Mrs. Miller's eighth graders also played an assimilation game in pollution control, thermonuclear power, over population, and pest control.

Each of the eighth grade classes collected and identified leaves in the fall and wild flowers in the spring.

Mr. Blaser's freshman general science course served as an introduction to basic biology, chemistry, and physics in relation to daily life.

Some of the more interesting experiments were dissection of cow eyeballs, dogs and cats in general science and biology classes.

Laura Brown, Joni Brown, and Marcy Adams dissect a cow's eyeball in freshman science.

Beth Hook enjoys the ice cream made by the physics class.

Lisa Hesselschwardt, Diane Amaden, and Colleen Adams look at organisms with the aid of the microscope.

Brenda Nester looks up from her work in biology.

Penny Caperton weighs sulfur for an experiment in biology class.

Tony Seibert explains a chemistry assignment to classmate, Kim Brown.

Lorie Essex and Connie Rodocker find lab equipment useful in their introduction to organic chemistry.

Teamwork plays an important part in chemistry lab, as Paige Craig and Stephania Wheeler discover.

Mr. Ken Barter, General Telephone representative, explains the invisibility of laser beam rays.

Mr. Kaltenbach instructs Dennis Durre in the proper use of the reflecting telescope.

Eighth grade students, Kathy Mumy and Marilyn Graber, study microscopic life.

Youngsters Learn to Name That Tune

The vocal music program for Mr. Jinks starts in the fourth grade. At this point the students are taught how to play the song flute. Students have already learned the basic element and are prepared to learn how to play an instrument.

By the time the students are in the fifth grade they are able to join the fifth grade choir. At the fifth grade level students have music once a week for forty minutes. There are usually about eighty members of the choir that present concerts, one at Christmas and one in the latter part of May.

The sixth grade schedule is very much like the fifth grade one. Students are able to join the sixth grade choir and also to participate in a boys and girls choir. Their music classes meet once per week for forty-five minutes.

The junior high music program was split this year due to a schedule conflict. The seventh grade choir met separately from the eighth grade. Hopefully next year this group will again be able to combine and practice as one.

The freshman choir had a shortage of guys this year so it became a freshman girls choir. The girls in the choir worked hard during the music class to get ready for their concerts.

Miss Coleman's job begins with the fifth graders. The fifth graders start band in about October learning how to produce a sound, change notes, and play simple songs individually, in small group lessons, and collectively in the fifth grade band. They practice two days a week in the locker room and gym this year, hopefully in the music room next year.

The sixth graders make the big jump from a single melody to melody plus harmony. They learn newer, more complicated music and work on sight-reading, rhythms, and higher notes. They also practice two days a week.

The junior high band members make the big step to marching band playing and marching at the same time. Music gets much more complicated, including high school arrangements of the "Fight Song," "Saints," and the "Star Spangled Banner." A performance with more experienced musicians. Sight reading, good tone, accurate rhythms, and group playing is emphasized, with concerts and contest competition.

The high school band is where all the hard work in the first four years pays off. Marching band and pep band, with more familiar songs, increasingly difficult and advanced marching maneuvers are performed.

Concert music is also more difficult, the emphasis being on sight-reading and learning music quickly for optimum performance in a short time.

Competition at contest is much stiffer and the more complicated rhythms and higher range of stage, pep, and marching bands test the talent and endurance of our musicians, according to Miss Coleman.

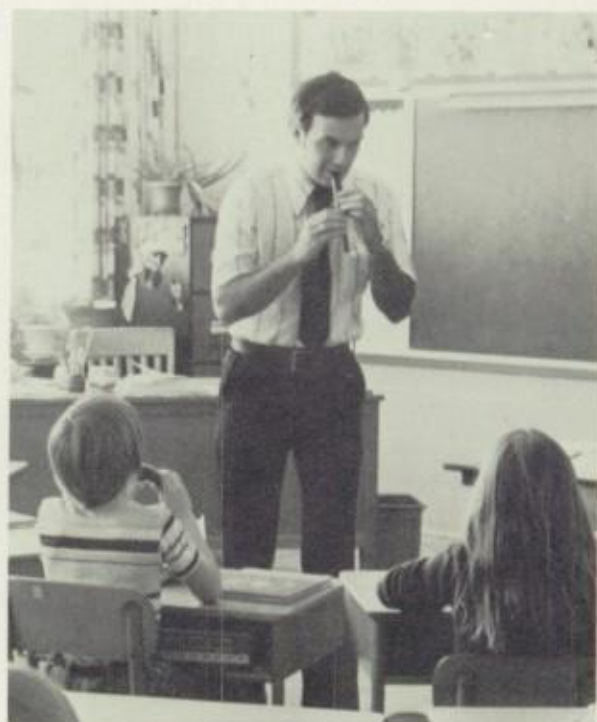

The junior high choir practices for their next concert.

Beat those drums, Sara!

The senior choir members sing the theme to their class play.

It's really easy to play!

Tell me again how you hold that thing!

The high school choir practices for their concert at the Bryan Wesley Church.

Relaxing on the job.

They always sing the funniest songs.

Is this a good embouchure for playing a baritone?

Business Courses Take Surveys

Mr. James Walther and Mrs. Shayna Cline taught the Business classes.

Mr. Walther's classes include: business math, general business, business law, consumer economics, clerical records, and bookkeeping. This year some of the classes had incorporated new projects such as surveys involving businesses in town.

Typing I and II, Steno I, and office practice were taught by Mrs. Cline. Typing I and II students learned the fundamentals of the typewriter and moved onto more difficult material. Gregg shorthand was taught in Steno I. Office practice incorporated several different practice sets which acquainted the students with the tasks of a secretary.

Typing students made pictures on the typewriter at Christmas time.

Office practice students also worked on the dictaphone and the adding machine.

Ella Moreno works on her filing for office practice.

Kolby Neidhart and Dean Wood listen as Mr. Walther explains leases and contracts.

Typing I students work to improve their skills.

Sue Morgan and Sheldon Levy listen to Mr. Walther in clerical records.

Frustration shows on Clark Poth's face as he tries to understand his general business assignment.

Jeff Connor listens as Mr. Walther explains the assignment in clerical records.

Beth Hook finds that working on the dictaphone can be a challenging project.

Homework keeps Nancy Fisher and Kerry Bice busy in a few spare minutes.

Todd Cromwell practices his typing.

Vickie Mellon ponders a question on a general business test.

Marijo Miller explains some of the principles of accounting to Caril Cherry.

Artists Draw Caricatures of Celebrities

Art was taught by Mr. Herb Tamplin. The art program included classes for the seventh grade and Art I and II.

Seventh graders did Drawings of bottles, candles, and fruit at the beginning of the year. Later, they began drawing in perspective by diminishing roads to one point. They studied the human body by drawing classmates' bodies. Still lifes of fruit were painted to get color schemes right. Weaving was practiced by making scarves and small pieces of cloth. Painting old English and Greek letters was also part of the program. Ceramics were the next project. They learned how to make pinch pots, coil pots, and some items on the pottery wheel. The last new project was learning how to use pen and ink. This was followed by a review of the year's work.

Art I students started the year by evaluating their skills by drawing still lifes of bottles, fruit, candles, and eggs. Then they moved onto perspective drawing by doing roads, buildings, boxes, and hallways. Human body structure was learned by doing skulls, skeletons, and classmates. Lettering styles, such as old English, two dimensional letters and the Greek alphabet, were studied. Ceramics were next. They used pinch and coil methods and did some work on the potters wheel. Caricatures of famous people were the next project. Some of the people used were Pres. Carter, Jack Nickalaus, Begin, Rockefeller, Richard Nixon, Sadat, Gerald Ford, and fellow classmates. Cardboard sculptures, album covers, road signs, and consumer economics followed.

Art II was a continuation of Art I. They reviewed their drawing skills and then implemented this ability with some of their own ideas. Creativity was emphasized throughout the course. Sculpture was taken up and one and two piece slip molds were discussed and made. They also worked with industrial and commercial design.

Mr. Tamplin helps Tom Battershell with his mold.

Dane May puts the finishing strokes on his sketch.

Nellie Mendez and Tricia Vincent sketch before they begin to paint.

Kevin Meyer puts the finishing touches on his project.

Steve Talbot works on good lettering styles.

Tami Gibson applies paint to her sketch.

Dana Brown, Annie Slattery, and Laura Brown work on their art projects.

Mr. Jeff Gleckler taught eighth, ninth and tenth grade industrial arts.

Objectives were to give students a basic knowledge and understanding of tools and their uses, and to instruct and have students practice shop safety.

Some of the projects that were in these classes consist of: eighth grade — cutting boards, candle sconces, playing card boxes (wood working); ninth grade — trophy cases, jewelry boxes, end tables, spice racks, coach lights (metal working).

Tenth grade — a flat bed pickup truck bed, end tables, gun racks, picnic tables, coffee tables, speaker boxes, mail boxes and posts, car ramps, jack stands, hammers (wood working).

Industrial Arts Students Learn Metal, Wood Working

Terry Speiser sands his book case.

Steve Hostetler studies his drafting.

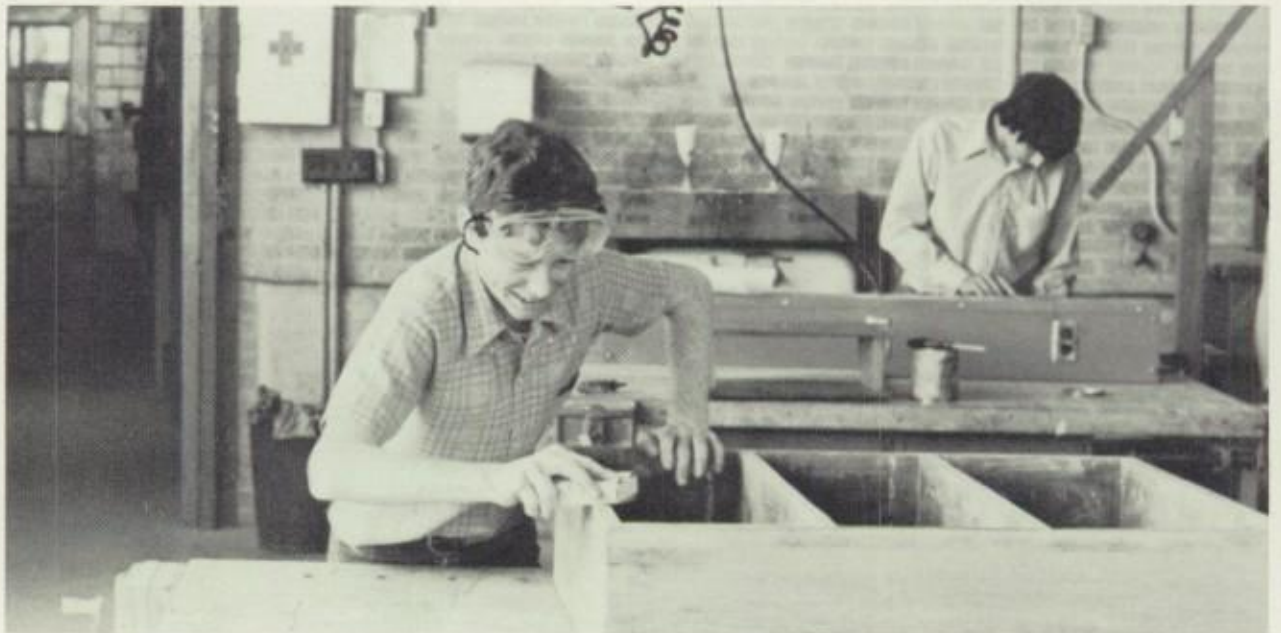

The lathe is used by Dean Langham on his project.

Mike Timbrook puts the finishing touches on his shelves.

Physical Education Classes Inspire Confidence

Freshmen learned much in health this year, as they studied a wide area of topics. Among these were: anatomy and different systems of the body, safety and first aid, the dangerous habits, such as tobacco, alcohol and drug abuse. Many films and guest speakers were used to supplement the classroom teaching.

Junior high and freshman physical education activities consisted of archery, soccer, speedball, volleyball, gymnastics, softball, track and field, and Marine Physical Fitness Testing.

The basic fundamentals in junior high level were standard competition. This allows the freshmen to start more advanced skills and highly competitive situations. This helps develop group learning and participation as well as individual learning and sportsmanship.

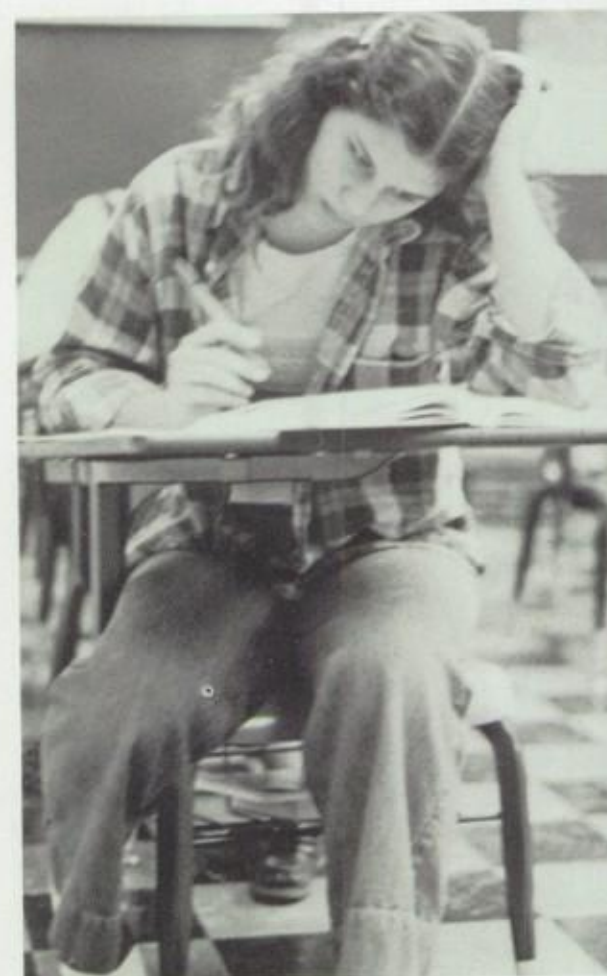

Classes were opened up with laps and exercises to build overall physical fitness. The students were graded with skill tests as well as written, so they could learn all aspects of the activity.

Archery, badminton, baseball, basketball, football, golf, gymnastics, Marine Physical Fitness Test, soccer, speedball, track and field, volleyball, and weight training were many of the activities the seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth graders participated in, in physical education.

Mr. Cromwell stated that emphasis in the lower grades was placed on basic fundamentals. In the higher grades, attention was given to team competition. The importance of sportsmanship and complete mental, physical and social well-being were stressed at all levels.

Elementary students found much enjoyment and exercise in physical education as they played many games such as baseball, basketball, battleball, crab soccer, softball, and track and field events. The basic emphasis was on the fundamentals of learning the skills.

Nancy Fisher studies the anatomy of the human body in health class.

Becky Bailey does her homework in health class.

Sixth graders practice making baskets.

Lori Reiter shows her grace on the balance beam as Roberta Russell steadies her.

Paul Camp strives to comprehend his sociology.

Sally Stoller cops a chuckle from her health book.

Stephanie Wood works carefully on her health homework.

Mrs. Siler demonstrates a basketball stance while Chris Kirby looks on.

These students work together as a team in physical education.

Holly Poper and Beth Hook work on their psychology.

Audine Hill works diligently on her sociology assignment.

Driver Education Emphasizes Competency Behind the Wheel

Every year in this country, there are more than 15,000,000 accidents, and statistics are useful in helping this problem. They can isolate the factors most commonly found in serious accidents. They can indicate whether or not a particular program is effective.

One thing statistics indicate is that drivers who were adequately trained before they received their licenses had better records than those who were not.

Hicksville's course in driver education is part of the overall program to solve the traffic accident problem. The aim of this course is to produce drivers who are both competent behind the wheel and possess a knowledge of how to drive safely.

The requirements of this course were thirty hours of book work, eighteen hours of observation, and six hours of driving.

Mr. Cherry hesitatingly enters the driver education car with Jim Stairhime behind the wheel.

Jim Stairhime prepares to fulfill his driving requirement.

Parallel parking is an important part of driver education.

Dennis Vetter is ready and waiting for his turn to drive.

Home Ec. Class Has Nursery School

The Home Economics department worked with new and interesting things under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Miller.

The Home Ec. I class learned about personal grooming, interior decorating, sewing and cooking. While cooking, the class specialized in egg cookery, which complimented learning to cook breakfast.

In Home Ec. II family problems were discussed, as well as learning about vocations in Homemaking. Their class worked with four and five year olds in a nursery school, practiced sewing skills, interior decorating, and specialized in bread and pastry cookery.

Working with new and different small appliances, such as the wok and crepe maker, interested the Gourmet Cooking class.

Specialties of the class were recipes of foreign foods, creamed onions, egg rolls and fried rice.

Marriage and family living taught students about family and teenage problems. This class also toured stores, and the hospital, took opinion polls and had several guest speakers.

Deanne Scott looks on as Vicki Mellon talks about Homemaking vocations.

Loretta Neukam carefully watches her sewing.

A group effort by Loretta Neukam, Tami Stairhime, and Brenda Burlingame will turn out a delicious cake.

The seniors listen to a report given by Elisa Moreno.

Along with their chosen programs, each student had to take related subjects which were combined with their class studies.

These included such subjects as government, various levels of math, business law and management, and English. They also saw films, held discussions concerning problems they encountered, made notebooks, learned new techniques, or did various typing assignments.

In lab periods, students at J.V.S. did activities and worked with machines as they would have done in a regular place of business. This includes working on the staff or doing projects for teachers.

Most courses of study include field trips. Art classes visited the Toledo Museum of Art. Cosmetology students went to hair styling shows and visited county rest homes to do patients' hair.

Factories, architectural firms, and other course-related businesses were toured by drafting students. Those involved in welding programs went to G.M. in Defiance, Ohio and Biljax in Archbold, Ohio.

Engine repair students observed the workings of area shops and assembly plants.

Other trips they took were to Toledo and Bryan, Ohio, and Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Manual Martinez pauses from his auto to look at the camera.

Clubs

Working Together To Do Things Better

Cadet band, which was composed of the fifth and sixth grades, played at the Christmas concert at the elementary school and in the Spring concert in May.

Junior high band performed at the last football game with the high school band in the blizzard. Junior high pep band played for the girls powder puff football game and at the girls basketball game. The band performed in the Christmas concert with the high school band and in the Spring concert in May. They went to contest which was held at Perrysburg.

Stage band practiced most Wednesday evenings and performed for a concert the last week of May. Songs included Rocky, Corazon, Jazzman, and a tribute to The Beatles.

Pep band traveled to the away football games and also played at most boys and girls home basketball games. Majorettes and Pom Pon girls performed to the music provided by the Pep band.

Marching Aces Perform in BGSU

Head majorette Stephanie Leonard led the twirlers, Valerie Klepper, Robin Mettert, Sharis Poper, Monica Jasso, and Yvette Cravens, through a fine season. Beth Haines added an extra touch with her solos as Hicksville's first feature twirler.

While attending Smith-Walbridge Camp in Syracuse, Indiana, during the summer, the squad learned several marching, dance, and novelty routines. They received a superior rating as a group. The squad performed at Cedar Point and led the band in the Memorial Day, Harlan, Butler, and Edgerton parades. After working hard at summer band camp, they performed well at the Defiance County Fair.

In September, Robin was involved in a fatal accident. She was sincerely missed, as was Yvette, who moved away.

Football half-times were highlighted by the girls' performances using hoop, flag, and fire batons, as well as regular batons and gloves. Beth executed her solos using light batons and two regular batons.

The three seniors, Stephanie, Beth, and Valerie, were escorted onto the football field by their parents on Parents' Night and made their last football appearances as majorettes during the halftime show.

The Pom-Pon squad had a terrific season this year, led by co-captains Deb Cress and Karrie Countryman.

Through the summer they marched in parades at Edgerton, Butler and Harlan. They also performed at Cedar Point, the Defiance County Fair, and Bowling Green Band Day.

In July they attended summer camp at Syracuse, Indiana, winning a superior squad rating and the class championship.

The squad performed at all home and some away football games in the fall, doing routines with pom-poms, gloves, and frisbees. The group finished out their season by performing at a home basketball game.

Deb Beamont and Tammy Gibson do a routine with the band supplying the tune during the halftime show at the Tinora football game.

Hicksville Marching Aces broke their usual summer by going to Cedar Point. This made the first of such performances in four years.

Judges awarded the Aces a first place for their marching style in Edgerton's annual fair. The Marching Aces captured a third place trophy at Butler and gave a fine exhibition at the Defiance County Fair.

Bowling Green Falcons' fans also witnessed the Marching Aces during the annual Bowling Green University Band Day. Hicksville joined 38 other bands from around the area to perform during halftime of a Bowling Green Falcons vs. Iowa State Cyclones game.

Aces Band performed at five games during the football season. Majorettes and Pom Pon squads accompanied the group in all of their shows.

Season '77 for the Marching Aces ended with the now traditional band party. This year it was an Italian pizza party held at Jean Kares' house.

Concert Band Entertains Community

Hicksville High School Concert Band, directed by Miss Donna Coleman, displayed talent during the Christmas concert, a concert at Tinora, and the Spring concert.

Snowy weather cut short the amount of time for practice, yet a well performed and well attended concert took place for Christmas. A prelude of Christmas carols by four band members on records was performed. Music included Sleigh Ride, Christmas Joy, and Tryptych for Christmas.

Activities continued with a concert at Tinora High School in March with bands representing Fairview, Ayersville, and Tinora high schools. Music included Coventry, The Proud and Noble March, and Bohemian Rhapsody by Queen.

Contest was held at Wauseon High School with the band receiving a two, or an excellent rating. Miss Coleman felt this was an accomplishment with all of the missed days of school.

The Spring concert, held with the junior high school band was in May. Music from contest was performed along with some light rock music including Bohemian Rhapsody, a Disco Medley, and Close Encounters of the Third Kind.

Directed by Mr. Ron Jinks, the Hicksville concert choirs performed at concerts and throughout the community at various functions.

Junior high mixed choir performed in two concerts and one assembly concert. The Christmas concert was the first concert for the group and they also sang in the Spring concert which was held in May. The assembly concert was held for the school.

Freshman choir sang at a Barber-shop program in the fall and at a Christmas and Spring concert. The choir was one of all girls and they learned to sing three part women's music.

Sophomore ensemble, composed of thirteen girls, sang at the Christmas Concert and the Spring concert. The girls also sang throughout the community.

BACK ROW: Lisa Hawn, Cathy Bauer, Maria Luderman, Toni Brown, Diane Amaden, Denise Houck, Tracey Walters, Todd Snyder, Steve Talbot, Jeff Hook, Todd Cook, Sara Bailey, Dawn Wahl, Karen Scott, Lisa DeBuhr, Beth Volkert, Kelly Berg, Sharon Vetter. Various Area Functions

High School Concert Choir performed at several concerts this year including the Christmas Candlelight Concert, Spring Concert, and at Graduation. The group also sang at services in the Wesley Methodist Church in Bryan and in St. John's Lutheran Church, in Hicksville. The seventy-three voice choir worked on four part music and presented some fine vocal quality in their concerts, according to Mr. Jinks.

Student Council Sponsors Many Activities

High School Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Kurry, sponsored numerous activities throughout the 77-78 school year.

To begin the year, the club sponsored the Homecoming activities, including the parade of floats, and the dance. Two members set the theme for the floats and the club awarded the prize money.

A powderpuff football game was held in honor of Sadie Hawkins. The club received permission for the girls participating to use the football jerseys.

Another dance was held with the student council in charge. An April Fool's Dance took place and each class had a king and queen fool.

Duane Cline, Susan Pocratsky, Kolby Neidhart, Beth Rohrs, Russ Cummins and Stephanie Wood participated in the student council member exchange with Tinora.

Conferences with teachers were also an activity of the High School Student Council.

Mr. Randy Hardy was the advisor of the Junior high student council. This group held monthly meetings.

Their main activity was to set the rules in the junior high study hall and sponsor the winter and spring junior high dances.

NHS Seniors Give AM, PM Announcements

Various activities were carried out by the National Honor Society, under the supervision of Mrs. Kathryn Wise.

Meetings were held the second Monday of each month. The officers were President — Paul Camp, Vice President — Dennis Durre, Treasurer — Mary Lou Whonsetler, and Secretary

Nancy Applegate.

Maintaining the four point boards and a tutoring service for junior high and high school students were the service projects for NHS.

A field trip to WOWO radio station in Ft. Wayne was taken in April. A tour and explanation of a radio station was given.

Sam's Restaurant in Balkeslee was the location of the banquet. The installation of officers for the 1978-79 school year was performed.

Giving the morning and afternoon announcements was also a project for the senior members.

Spanish Club Holds Treasure Hunt

Spanish Club met the second Wednesday night of each month. The club held parties, a treasure hunt, and a continued service project. Money-making projects were also undertaken. Miss Susan Krout was the advisor.

Sponsoring a poverty child, Magda Luz in Guatemala, was the service project which began in 1976. She has received $360.00 in the past years from Spanish club.

To make money, the club sold candles at Christmas time and sponsored several bake sales.

Members enjoyed activities such as a Christmas party with a piñata made by the members, a taco party, and a treasure hunt around the town, where the members had to collect items from different households.

HJCL Enjoys Full Year of Activities

Officers for the 1977-78 HJCL were Consul — Anna Kiss, Vice Consul — Greg Hart, Soriba Quaestor — Lisa Quaintance, Nuntia — Donna Sweeney.

Initiation was held in October with 12 members being inducted.

In November the club purchased a box of fruit for the Defiance County Children's Home for Thanksgiving.

At Christmas HJCL held its annual Saturnalia. Members also sent gifts to the senior citizens at Fountain Manor.

January activities were somewhat curtailed as snow blanketed the area and school was cancelled.

Valentines were sent to the persons at Fountain Manor during February.

During the second semester, club work centered around Ohio JCL convention which was held April 7, 8, 9 in Ohio University in Athens.

HJCL students returned home with many awards and memories of good times and friends.

This school year was concluded with the traditional Roman banquet in May, at which the guests wore togas (sheets), reclined on mats and ate in the Roman tradition — with fingers, not silverware.

Anna Kiss was named Ohio Torch editor of 1978-79 and Michele Biery was elected state secretary. Advisor Mrs. Margaret McAdams is a state co-chairperson.

Since Rome was traditionally founded on April 21, 753 BC, the week ending with the twenty first was chosen as Latin week. Trophies, scrapbook and banner were displayed. Signs were posted and a breakfast to WOWO was sent in.

Digging Toward a Common Goal

Winning their last four meets, the 1977 Golf team finished the season a strong and an improved team. Coach George Cherry felt the season ended on the optimistic note and hopes to see the nine golfers back next year for another successful season.

Many of the meets were tri-meets or quad-meets.

Hicksville encountered only four meets which included two teams. The ending record for the golf team was three first place, three second place, one fourth place and two ties.

Most Valuable Player award was presented to Junior Tim Gloor, Junior Monte McGough was valued as Most Improved Player.

Junior Varsity Improves Basics Throughout Season

Junior Varsity volleyball members improved basics tremendously throughout the 1977 season. With the season ended, the final record was 3-9.

Coached by Mrs. Deb Baringer, the team was made up of fourteen freshmen and sophomores. The volleyballers were hard working and played well.

Winning three of the last four games showed improvement of the skills learned.

CC Team Sets Record; Gains

Being the first team ever to gain more than one hundred victories in a single season, the 1977 Cross Country harriers advanced from sectionals to district and placed 11th in State. Coached by Mr. Jerry Balser, the runners showed great talent throughout the season.

Led by the Wood brothers, James and Dean, the team placed 3rd in sectionals and 4th in districts. Before participating in sectionals, the team record was 83-9. The final ending record was 108-25.

Making the BBC 1st team were James Wood and Dean Wood. Making 2nd team was Mark Zimmerman while Chad Wyatt, Ron Meyer, and Jeff Smith received Honorable Mention.

Bad Breaks, Injuries Plague Junior High Gridders

Finishing at 0-5-1, the Junior High Football team had a rough season. Their mediocre record was due more to key bad breaks than to the players performance. Injuries also hurt the Junior High gridders. At one time, 9 of 11 starters were on the injured list. The gridders were close in almost every game as they lost by only one touchdown in three clashes.

Outstanding performances were turned in defense by Brad Kline at defensive end, Bob Battershell at middle guard, Dean Lothamer, and Steve Hebblethwaite.

The entire defense did an excellent job coming up with many goal line stands.

The offense was led by Ron Bauer who had 11 catches, at the end slot, Ted Hostetler at halfback, and Dan Micheal at tackle. The seventh graders also contributed as nine started.

Freshmen Look Well In '77 Season

Freshman football team had a fine season, especially if one takes into consideration that they played only 3 teams that were composed of freshmen. Their other games were against reserve teams from other schools.

The freshmen played well in almost all their games, and came up with some exceptional plays on defense, coming up with some impressive defensive stands. The offense took a couple of games to get untracked, but looked well in the final games.

Dennis Vetter, Steve Thiel, and Duane Middaugh looked extremely well on defense. The offense was led by Steve Davis at quarterback, James Whitaker at halfback, and Dave Richie at end.

All these freshmen have a lot to look forward to playing football and should make a valuable contribution to the future football teams.

Aces Take Second In NWBL, GMC Leagues

The Mighty Aces Machine rolled to a respectable 7-3 record. Although not the goal that the team wanted, the season was considered a success. After an opening loss to Ayersville, the Aces dominated their next four opponents before falling to arch rival Fairview.

The Aces were again their dominate self until meeting Paulding on a snow-covered field. The Aces lost a hard fought 7-0 game to the Panthers.

Coach Metz summed up the season with these thoughts: "I felt the season, as a whole, went fairly well. The boys gave their best and did a good job. The leadership that the seniors gave really helped and should carry over next year."

The Aces finished 2nd in both the Green Meadows Conference and the Northwest Buckeye League. The Aces

Bad Weather Cancels Junior High Girls' Games

Junior High Girls' Basketball teams ended their seasons by playing only four games. Bad weather was the cause for the cancellation of the other six scheduled games.

Kathy Mumy and Diane Amaden were the outstanding team members for the eighth grade. Kathy Mumy was the Most Improved Player and Diane Amaden scored the most points during the season with 42 points. Eighteen girls made up the team.

The ending record was 2-3. The girls were champions in the first tournament game. They, then, competed again but were beaten.

Mr. Randy Hardy coached the eighth grade team as well as helping the seventh grade team when their first coach, Miss Georgina Brown, quit coaching.

Maria Luderman scored the most points for the seventh grade team. The nine girls on the team tried hard to win, even though their record 0-4 does not show the effort put forth.

season in February. The eighth and seventh grade teams gave their best efforts to be winning teams.

Jeff Hook concentrates and readies himself for a foul shot in a game against Fairview.

With a record of 9-3, the eighth grade, coached by Mr. Fast, was led in the scoring by Mike Volkert. Eleven regular season games were played out of the fourteen scheduled. One tournament game was played but the eighth grade Aces were downed in the game.

Coach Fast enjoyed working with his group of twelve boys. He stated that they were a good group and the season was satisfying.

Mr. Tamplin coached the sixteen seventh graders through the season. The record was 3-8. The Most Improved Player was Mark Haver while Jeff Hook and Rod Hammond scored the most points. No tournament games were played for the seventh grade team.

Coach Tamplin stated, "I had a very cooperative group of seventh graders that tried to do everything I asked them. Although our record doesn't show a great number of wins, I believe the next few years will show the results of their efforts."

Freshmen End Season, 3-9

Coached by Mr. James Walther, the 1978 Freshman Basketball team had a consistent season. The final record of the season was 3-9.

Bad weather affected the practices of the squad, as well as causing the cancellation of five games. Only twelve games were played, including the three tournament games. The thirteen members of the team displayed their efforts during the season and placed 4th in GMC tournament.

Leading in the scoring for the Aces were Steve Caryer and Todd Shock. Steve Caryer also scored the most points during the season. Dennis Vetter and Don DeMuth were stated as being the Most Improved Players.

Coach Walther commented on the season as being successful as to the improvement to the team's abilities. He was pleased with the efforts and attitudes that the squad showed. Winning more games would have been more impressive, although the season went well.

Freshman Ace, Dennis Vetter, jumps high to reach the ball before his North Central opponent.

Work and effort were put forth by the Reserve Basketball team although the 1-16 record shows no indication of it. With only nine players the team was short on members as well as experience.

According to Coach Thomas Kurry, the season was a tribute to the cagers that they finished the season with as much enthusiasm as they had when the season began.

The success or failure of a reserve team is predicted on the number of players who move up to varsity level in the future.

Four reserve players moved up to the varsity squad for tournament because of injuries to the varsity members. From this experience, Coach Kurry feels the majority of players will be playing on the varsity level next year.

Sophomore Ace Bill Volkert goes in for a lay-up to score two more points for the team.

Injuries Hinder Varsity Season; Four

1977-78 roundballers suffered through a disappointing 2-15 season. They were plagued with sickness and injury throughout the season. The flu-bug hit the team early and the Aces were off to a slow start. Injuries then took over as four players were sidelined with serious injuries. Bob Luderman and Tom Turnbull were involved in a collision in which both were hospitalized for three days. Both suffered slight concussions but both returned to play well in the remainder of the season.

Bill Rohrs and James Wood went out with knee injuries. Rohrs and Wood were out for the season as each had to have operations. Steve Thiel suffered a broken nose late in the season and had to wear a protective mask.

Seniors End Play for HHS

The Aces had balanced scoring from everyone and played well at times. The strong point for the cagers was rebounding. They out-rebounded almost all other opponents and were never really out of any game.

The downfall of the Aces was their turnovers. The team put themselves out of some games with costly turnovers. In the games that the Aces held down their miscues, they looked like a championship team.

One quarter out of four seemed to spell out the fate of the Aces as they would out-play their foes for three, losing only one.

In tournament the Aces looked superb against Liberty Center but fell to a much taller and more experienced Ottawa Hills team.

The players had nothing to be ashamed of as they played well and are basically a young and learning team.

Losing only four seniors out of ten varsity players, the Aces have a good nucleus for next year.

Girls' reserve basketball squad completed the 1977-78 season with an ending record of 11-2. The girls placed first in B.B.C. with only one loss in that conference.

Coached by Mrs. Jean Siler and Mr. Ray Hook, Brenda Nester was awarded Most Valuable Player on the reserve team.

The year was a tough one for the Hicksville grapplers as they did not win a match. However, the wrestlers looked good in many of their matches.

Coach Wunderle said, "I have seen a great deal of improvement in these young men but we still have a long way to go. This year we did not win a match; however we did gain experience. The boys never got discouraged and kept on working. Many of these guys have a lot of potential for next year.

"We will also be traveling to summer tournaments this year. We hope that these tournaments will help to increase everyone's knowledge of wrestling. We hope for next year to recruit more men for the team. We hope to have enough for a complete J.V. team which will help our program."

Some of the notable wrestlers were Kirk McClish, a 3rd at B.B.C. tournament, Dean Fowler, a 4th at G.M.C.,

Junior High Runners Improve

Although the team only won one meet in a regular season, they did put quite a scare into some of the conference schools at the two conference meets.

The boys' strongest events were the 100 yard hurdles and the long jump with Brad Kline being a consistent winner. Rusty Amaden and Mike Laney both placed very well in the 880. Dan Middaugh won consistently in the shot and discus as well as substituting in both the 880 relay and mile relay. The 880 relay team (Dennis Michael, Jim Gardner, Troy Burlingame, Tim Flanary came within 1/10 of a second of the school record.

The girls' team also had several bright spots. Kathy Mumy and Colleen Adams won consistently in the 100 and 220. Maria Luderman and Sara Bailey improved in the shot and discus. Brenda Kemerer and Lisa Laub showed very well in the hurdles.

Outstanding achievements: Brad Kline set the 440 dash record with a run of 59.0. Kathy Mumy set the GMC record in both the 100 yard dash (12.4) and the long jump (14' 10").

Reserves Show Pride in Program

Aces Junior Varsity baseball team completed the season with a 3-6 record. The leading hitters were Fletcher Grover, Jeff Powell and Steve Caryer. They were led in pitching by Mark Lothamer and Steve Davis.

Coach Walther stated, "We lost several one run games and made crucial mental mistakes which I feel can be corrected in their remaining years. The weather was a deterrent in our gaining any type of momentum.

"I feel we have the nucleus of individuals who will complement the returning lettermen on our varsity, to continue the success of our varsity. It was an enjoyable year for me to be working with these fellows and I think that they will continue in having pride in our baseball program."

1978 Baseball Team Wins State Championship

Goals were set at the beginning of the season by both individuals and the team. Individual goals included better batting averages, less strike outs, and fewer errors. The team goals were to win both leagues, BBC and GMC, and also to win Hicksville's first State Championship.

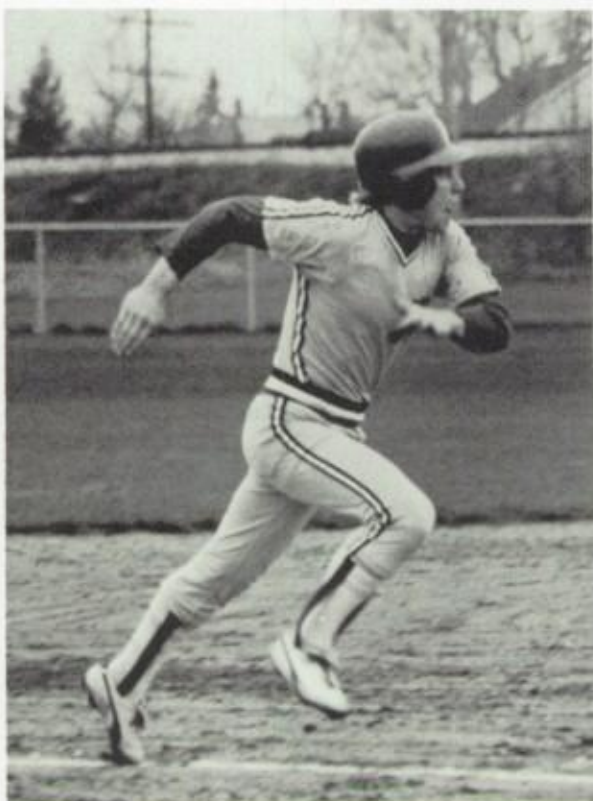

Baseball is a team sport and Hicksville's success is due to the closeness of the team members. There were many individual stars but the players learned to depend on each other. If a couple of key players were in a slump, the others made up for them. Everyone was striving to win. Team goals came first, individual goals, second.

Errors hurt the Aces in their opening game against state ranked Dekalb. After that game, though, the Aces were awesome. They won their next seven games before bowing to Hamilton Badin in extra innings. The Aces steam-rolled until meeting a determined Antwerp squad which showed the Aces they were not invincible. The players realized that no one was going to lie down for them.

With this thought in mind the Aces entered the Tournament Trail. Breezing through Sectionals and District, the Aces smelled a championship. In the Regional games the Aces used the long ball to overcome Leipsic and St. Henry. The Aces used their defense in the two games at Columbus to help obtain the title.

Morroll Ridgedale fell victim to the Aces in the first game, 3-2. In the finals Middletown Fenwick took and held the lead for six innings. The Aces, now almost tasting the State Title, tied the score and used their superb defense to send the game into extra innings. The Aces' bats came alive in the eighth inning and they scored runs to assure the first State Championship for Hicksville in history.

In the individual statistics department Duane Cline and Rod Vanderstelt led the team in batting with averages of .383 and .367 respectively. Steve Thiel, Tom Battershell, Bill Rohrs, and Rod Vanderstelt carried the pitching duties for the Aces. The Aces finished with a team batting average of .283, outscored their opponents 203 to 80, and finished Hicksville's best record in history.

This year the Board of Education consisted of Mr. Bernard Whonsetler, President; Mr. Paul King, Vice President; Mrs. Martha Green, Clerk; Rev. Daniel Bare; Mr. Don Brown; and Mr. Lowell Applegate.

Hicksville School Board President was elected President of the Four County Joint Vocational School Board of Education. New member Lowell Applegate attended a Board members' academy for training.

The addition to the elementary school was started and it is hoped that it will be ready for use in the fall of 1978.

A new superintendent, Mr. Charles Koch, was hired to replace Mr. Lester

Latta, who retired.

In the spring, it was decided to place a 5.5 mill operating levy on the June 6 ballot. This would be the first additional levy since 1970.

Board of Education Members: Mrs. Martha Green, Mr. Paul King, Reverend Daniel Bare, Mr. Bernard Whonsetler, Mr. Don Brown, and Mr. Lowell Applegate discuss business.

"You're not getting me to do that!"

Miss Krout examines the contents of the garbage can for a possible menu for the next Spanish Club meeting.

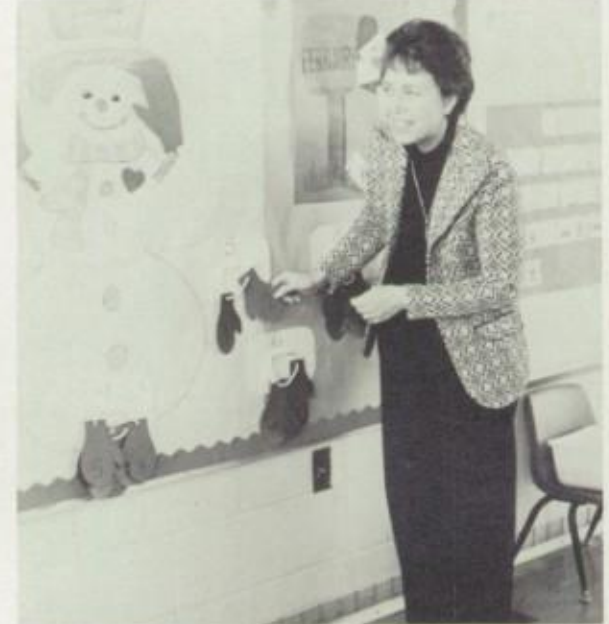

"I told you ten laps, and not one step less."

"I can't bear to watch any more of this."

Happiness is being together at a basketball game.

"Did you say this was your mitten?"

"Don't disturb that blade of grass."

"I see you!"

"I don't EVEN believe this!"

"Are you the one who stole my Final Net?"

"Uncle Tom wants you!"

"You think you've got problems."

Learning to overcome disabilities is serious business.

Darth Vader Returns!

"It's mine!"

Gruesome Granny watches over Halloween festivities.

Sick friends are remembered favorably as second graders write get well notes.

"Even witches need to eat!"

"I'll swap you three Bozos for a Mickey Mouse."

"Someday I'll do Swan Lake! You wait and see!"

Mike Langham puts his talented hands in motion.

Many teachers employ visual aids.

The very young can find joy in anything.

Round and round she goes, where she stops nobody knows.

Robin was killed in an automobile accident.

In Memoriam
Peace!, peace! they are not dead
they do not sleep —
They have awakened from the dream of life.

Robin and Andy will long be remembered by those who knew and loved them.

James A. (Andy) Wallace
Born: September 10, 1960
Died: January 1, 1978.

"Hie-dee-ho . . .!"

"This is the easy way to walk — on wheels!"

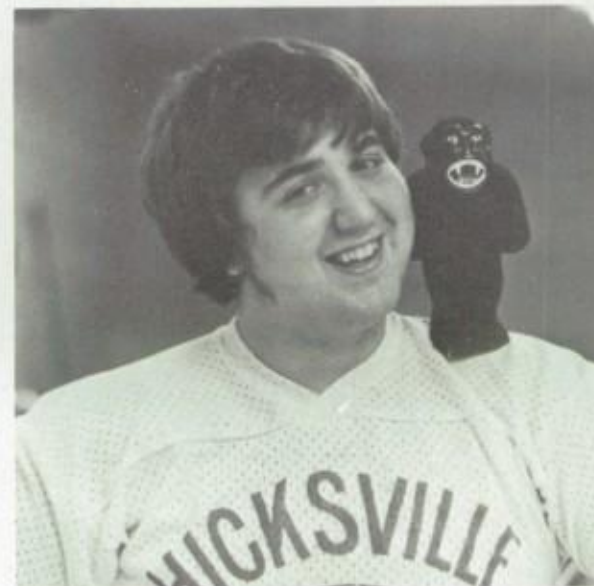

"I just washed my hair and I can't do a thing with it!!!"

"Mother always told me not to play with fire!!!"

The Doobie Brothers ride again.

A chip off the old block!?

"These teachers and homework, what a day!"

"Have you heard the one about . . . ???"

"Huh! Who, me?"

Busted, again?!?!?!?

"Concentration, that's what ya' need!"

"Don't get so shovy, Janice, I'll talk to him in a minute!"

Senior math is V-e-r-r-y Interesting!"

"Give me a seven, give me an eight! What do you got? 78!"

All work and no play is hardly an ideal situation, so Susan takes a break from Pep Band practice.

"No assignment on a Tuesday? Ha, Ha, I really don't believe it!!!"

Together for the Last Time

Rick Whitaker receives his diploma from Mr. Bernard Whonsetler.

Rev. Calvin Martin gives the sermon.

"The class of 1978 is the best"

Rev. Daniel Bare gives the Benediction.

Mark Zimmerman, junior class president, introduces the valedictorian, Paul G. Camp.

Deb Cress listens intently.

Pomp and circumstance is played.

Shelley Terry, class president, challenges her class to do well.

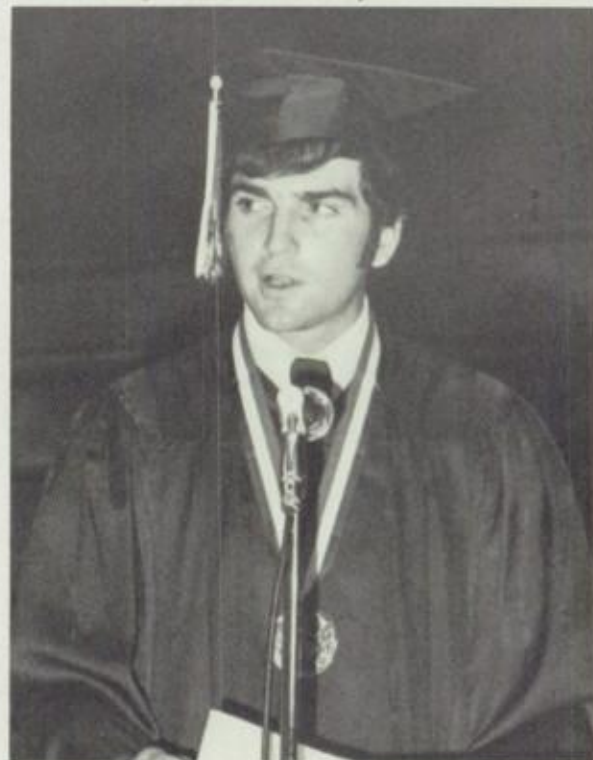

Salutatorian, Dennis Durre, speaks to the class.

Paul Camp, Valedictorian, speaks of the future.

The motto describes the class.

Bob Luderman, class vice president, talks of the past.

The high school choir sings "Together."

Kim Shatto is deep in thought as she walks.

'78: The Class With Class

The class of '78 listens attentively.

Ella Moreno smiles as she receives her diploma.

Exchange student Gerard Van Dyck poses with his Hicksville family. Mr. and Mrs. Guilford and fellow graduate Brad Guilford.

The class is overjoyed to be graduated.

Rita Barkman starts her walk down the aisle.

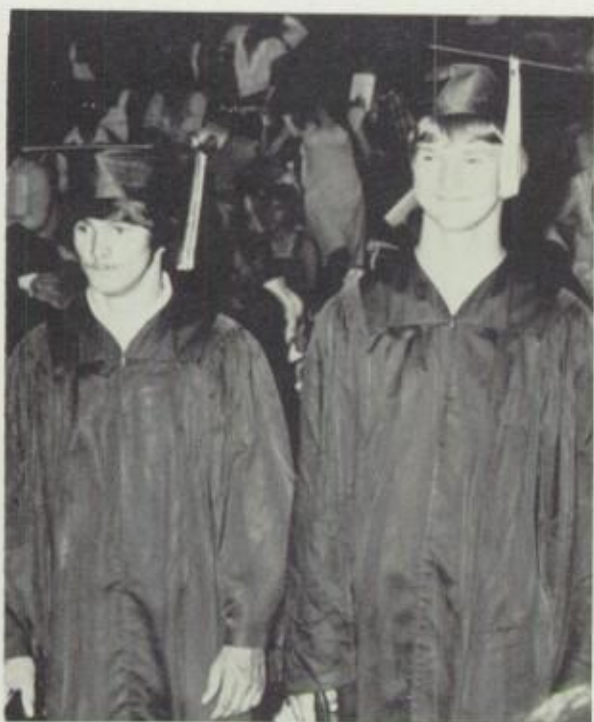

"World, here I come!"

It is over.

"You may turn your tassels."

Jim Husted walks out triumphantly with Tony Marts.

Elisa Moreno reads a graduation card.

This is a time of exaltation.

Mr. Ron Jinks directs the high school choir for the last time.

Annette Mackling buckles her shoes in preparation.

It is a solemn moment.

Mary Milner walks ahead into the unknown.

Graduates show various emotions.

How often do you get the chance to skateboard around a snowdrift?

Contemplating becoming WAVES, girls??

It might help if you wore your specs, Mr. K!!

Mr. Hallett takes time out of class for his two favorite students.

Tracy Bauer stands speechless at the podium.

Disco dances give these resident experts a chance to prove their skills as electricians.

The weather may be gloomy, but the sight of the school bell lights up our lives!

No, Julie, Romeo is not the girl, he's the boy! Keep working on it!

One more ordinary school day for Paul Camp and Beth Hook.

Who said Hixonian was fun?

Annette Mackling smiles prettily for the camera.

Dane May, Bob Meyer, Bob Luderman, Dennis Durre, Paul Overmyer and Steve Hebblethwaite find that lifting cars is good for one's health.

Three-eyed Greg Brewer holds his science project.

"Play it again, Sam!"

Yes Bob, there really is a Santa Claus. And he comes down the chimney like this!

Kenny Cline has a royal flush.

This year, as all years do, held many, many memories — memories of events, achievements and moments from the best part of our lives thus far.

For each member of the individual classes, this year produced varied memories of activities and events in which they were involved.

There are memories of school dances, plays, banquets, and contests, ceremonies of recognition, academic and athletic achievements, Coronation, Prom, and seniors seeing graduation as the end of the beginning of their lives.

This year, 1978, has also been a year of firsts. To name a few — a Christmas Cotillion, class play, Powder Puff football game in observance of Sadie Hawkins Day, and the Varsity Baseball Team State Championship.
